Missing in-person meetings? Visit a local patio

Even as the COVID-19 pandemic disrupts life, many businesses continue to operate. When it comes to networking or closing a deal, Zoom meetings don't always make sense. Fenaroli & Associates has compiled this library of local restaurants and bars where patrons can sit outdoors, which experts say helps to mitigate transmission risk.

As venues work to keep their staff and patrons safe, many have adjusted their hours and operating procedures. Those noted here are updated as of July 8, 2020. We recommend checking the location's website or social media before planning a meeting to get the latest updates and making a reservation when possible. Most venues are within areas with municipal or state requirements that masks be worn in public areas.

Despite the circumstances, we hope you continue to grow your business and stay safe while doing so!
